TV Watch Statement on Family Guy "PTV" Episode

On this coming Sunday's episode of Family Guy, the government censors Peter's favorite television shows, so he creates his own station, "PTV." More government meddling follows.

TV Watch executive director Jim Dyke said:

"This week's episode of Family Guy is satire, but the government's ever-increasing reach into our living rooms is anything but funny. Even more ridiculous than Stewie's antics is a system in which a single zealot can spark a government investigation and change TV for everyone."
